

Building Aboriginal Relationships

IPAC Services recognizes the importance of diversity in its work force. Aboriginal peoples, their perspectives and products and services can play a meaningful role in tendering our bids, carrying out our work activities and consequently reflect in our competitive prices.

We are sensitive to the Aboriginal issues and struggles in today's workplace. We encourage a relationship with all Aboriginal peoples and remain supportive to the fair and equal opportunities to individuals or groups associated with our work activities to achieve the same level of success we have had with our past projects and activities.

IPAC Services remains committed to being a good neighbour and to building and maintaining positive relationships with Aboriginal groups and communities in all areas where we conduct work activities.

We look forward to assessing the opportunities and benefits that current or future projects could offer for additional Aboriginal relationships and/or partnerships.
